

Lessons from a paint brush and paint can.

“If you have not been faithful in what is another man’s, who will give you what is your own?
“ Luke 16:12 (NKJV)

In our society today we can easily be duped into thinking that authority is our enemy and out to get us. However, that is not the case.

When you were a child, who provided shelter, food, and clothing.
- Your authority. (Parents / Guardians.)

When you were in high school, who had the power to name you the starter on the team?
- Your Authority. (Coach)

Today, who is it that pays your salary?
- Your Authority. (Employer)

Authority is not our enemy, authority is our friend.

Jesus lets us know that when we are faithful with those things that belong to someone else, we will eventually get things that are our own.

When we serve our authority well, not only does it bless our authority, our team, and our organization, it also opens the door for blessing to come into our life as well.

Questions:

Who do you work for?
- What is their vision?
- What are their goals?
- What is the “paint brush and paint can” they have handed you?

What is your heart posture toward your authority?

How can you be more faithful with what they have handed you?
